Magic Methods

Python uses `__init__` to build classes

Overriding `__init__` lets us hook into the language

What else can we do? Can we define classes that act like:

iterators? lists?

sets? dictionaries?

numbers?

comparables?

Implementing Magic Methods